

Prayer and meditation keys to peace

BY SHERRI H.
VANCOUVER, WASH.

Prayer and meditation in the most traditional sense of the term has not been a strong part of my life. Because I was told that I could have a HP of my own understanding, I had no ritual to follow as a method. So initially I thought I must be doing Step 11 wrong. My experience has proven otherwise.

One of my sponsors taught me back in Step 2 to recognize what I have to be grateful for and to acknowledge that it came from my Higher Power by saying "thank you" every day. Make the list. Say "thank you." That practice gave me a new awareness of HP in my life, even in places I hadn't thought to look. My sponsor calls it prayer. She says, "That'll work."

That's how it started. It continued as I talked to God driving to work in my car. While doing the dishes at night. In the shower as I reviewed my day. In between phone calls and E-Mails at work. Out loud or silently, it didn't seem to make any difference provided it was a conscious attempt to connect. There were times when I realized I must look like a crazy person always talking "to myself." My sponsor asked, "Does it work?" Yeah. It must because I feel connected to a Higher Power. That's all that matters.

In endless hours of contemplation of what a Higher Power means to me I can only come up with three absolutes about what I understand about my Higher Power. What I receive is JJ3 direction, the strength to walk forward and comfort.

Direction as I seek the path of God's will as it opens itself up to me. Strength to walk forward on that path. Comfort by the very fact that the direction and strength always occurs. If I reach out.

Perhaps the examination of my experiences as I recognize how HP guides, strengthens and comforts me on this path called life is all that the term "meditation" implies. Another conscious attempt to connect the dots. Acknowledging the source. Denying ego the credit.

That ego is what makes me think I can ask God for specifics, praying for circumstances to change, life to be easier, feelings to go away or come back, knowledge — thinking, once again, that I know what is best.

Step 11 reminds me, once again, to trust HP with complete abandon and no expectation for an outcome — to ask only to know God's will for me and the power to carry it out.

But daily? Am I so forgetful that this power has already proven to guide me through some of the most painful and difficult situations over the past couple of years? Or that I am ungrateful for the changes that have occurred for me as a result of HP being in my life already? Human arrogance is a mighty force of its own, I suppose, and I am subject to all of its consequences no matter how long I am sober.

Perhaps then this is the reason to continue to improve my connection with my HP. Left without direction from HP, I am like a willful horse, taking the bit in my teeth to run off onto paths that all lead back to the destructive ends with which I am so familiar — remember the First Step? It all seems like such a good idea at the time, until my experience proves that I hit the dead-end brick wall at warp speed.

So it is, that no matter where I

FROM THE CHAIR OF THE WSO

Greetings from the World Service Office.

To begin with, I am pleased to announce that our "interim secretary," Judy W., of the San Fernando Valley has become a full-fledged member of the WSO board. We welcome her and are already receiving the benefits of her position as secretary.

Since our last edition of the Newsgram, we celebrated sobriety in Chicago at the CAWS Convention, 2003. Thank you Chicago for a great and financially successful convention. Through the hard and persistent efforts of the convention committee, we were able to keep a handle on expenses and maximize the revenue for CAWS.

In spite of the successful convention, we continue to be concerned about our revenues vs. expenses. Much work has taken place at the WSO to go over our budget and make the necessary adjustments in order for us to remain solvent. We also intend to implement the "Donor Program" which we believe can make a major impact on our flow of revenue.

Meanwhile, part of our adjustments to meet the budget have included reducing the staff at WSO. What this means to the fellowship is that for the time being, services are somewhat slowed down. For example, the turn around time for orders will be about a week, certain requested reports take longer to process and even the thank you letters for 7th Tradition donations are delayed. Please understand that we intend this to be only temporary. Our goal, as always, is to provide the best services possible to the fellowship, the World Service Conference and to the World Service Board of Trustees. Always feel free to call us if you have any questions.

Which leads into my next good news, Earl H., a director at large, has helped the WSO in getting a new telephone system, free of charge. He and the other director, Mike G., spent many hours installing the system including giving us more phone lines. Earl is also working on setting up a conference calling system, which will greatly reduce our telephone costs for the conference calls.

Lastly, the World Service Conference is coming up. In spite of all of the work which needs to be done, we look forward to working along side all of the delegates, trustees and other committee members for the good of CA.

I encourage all of Cocaine Anonymous, especially the Areas and Districts, to think of World Services when they are going over their donations and budgets. It cannot be stressed enough that in order for the World Services to carry out its mission as directed by the WSC and WSBT, it needs sufficient funds to do so. We certainly thank all of you in the fellowship who send us contributions. If you are not sure where your area or district stands in this regard, perhaps you might take a moment and look at page 7 to see how your area or district is doing in donations to World Services.

Thank you for all of your support.

The day after

LIAISON CAWS 2003

The day after the CAWS 2003 Convention turned into a week of reality that three years of planning was completed. The sub-committee meetings, standing committee meetings and steering committee meetings done. The budgets, minutes, copies, emails, attachments, decisions, conference calls done. The moaning and complaining, done. The meals, get togethers, stuffing parties, the pick ups, the drop offs, the laughs...lots of laughs done. Running the halls of the Hilton late at night, daily newsletter, the early morning calls where's the coffee, done. The 20 hour days during the five day period...oh yea...done. The blood, sweat and tears, ups and downs; smiles and frowns done. The moment filled with sadness, depression, isolation.

The hype is gone, the calls have stopped, and the email box is empty. The excitement, the camaraderie, the friendship, and fellowship done ...no way! Not for this fellowship, not for this Area. Not for these two ladies!

Don't get us wrong, there is a sense of sadness that sweeps over you, but you know that the experience you have just had is one that needs to be sorted out. Careful thought and contemplation take the place and fill the whole. It's a new beginning! The experience of being on the

In observance of National Safety Week, the month of June, CANOLA, CA of New Orleans, LA, has manned a Public Information table for the past six years at the Michoud Assembly Facility and their annual Health and Safety Fair. The main tenant at the MAF is Lockheed Martin who executes the contract to assemble the External Tank for the Space Shuttle Transportation System.

This effort has been spear-headed each year by Eddie G., our current PI & Chips & Literature Chair, Vice-Chair of Louisiana Area and former Project Engineer/Project Manager of Lockheed Martin and several other recovering addicts in the CA fellowship in New Orleans in conjunction with Lockheed Martin's Employee Assistance Program and its Director, Kathy E. This venue was attended by and sponsored by the tenants of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, MAF, including Lockheed Martin, U.S. Department of Agriculture/National Finance Center, Defense Contract Management, and the University of New Orleans, which represents approximately 5,000 employees. CANOLA participates in all four days each year answering participant's questions about the fellowship, explaining our singleness of purpose and handing out PI Fact Files, free CA approved literature and Greater New Orleans Meeting Directories.

The NewsGram is always looking for submissions. Steering Committee for the CAWS 2003 Convention is not one we will soon forget. The privilege, honor and gratitude are overwhelming.

What an awesome experience it is to be a part of something so big ...so spiritual!

As part of the Steering Committee we found it important to work with dedicated members of the fellowship, those that had an understanding of the fellowship, and service ship...past and present.

Tolerance, patience, a cooperation in communicating and the desire to be of service to one another were keys to our progress. We had the pleasure to work with many fine members of this fellowship here in Illinois as well as elsewhere. Their hard work and dedication to CA made our jobs easy.

There were so many great moments from beginning to end, to many to write about, yet we would like to share a few with you that were special and unique to us.

Kim:

"My first special moment was kicking off the convention having Sushi with my friends, very special friends on Thursday...sharing and reviewing the days to come, catching up with friends I have not seen in a while, and the feeling of comfort and love."

"Another special moment was when I was operating on some kind of God driven energy, wanting to just keep moving only allowing myself to be tired when I woke up, or when I went to bed."

"I decided to take the time and to go the Women's workshop, taking the "Angel Walk", and again the feeling of comfort, love and worthiness."

"Another, the sobriety countdown...overwhelming...feeling comfort, love, and possibilities!"

Lastly, Sunday morning...a gentleman I met for the first time in Portland, crossing paths at the Conference, and ran into again at this convention, Jim S. from Nevada, presented me with a lovely, sweet gift. Not a fancy or expensive gift...a heart shape Nevada lapis polished stone, a gift from the soul and the heart. It was a special gift. The feeling of comfort, love, and acceptance. Thank you."

Vanessa:

"I had several great experiences at the convention. First of all, I had the wonderful experience of meeting a lot of members from throughout the world by doing service work in the hospitality suite. I was signing off on coffee from early in the morning to midnight."

"I would see members after they checked in, in between meetings and throughout the day. I got a chance to see members that I knew and members even from other countries."

"Another experience was the Saturday night open meeting. We had our H&I day where we hosted 200 H&I patients from the Chicago area."

"I had the opportunity to be the Emcee for the Saturday night meeting, and when I looked out there and saw the room filled with so many newcomers I got all choked up as I thought about and thanked God for the CA World Service Convention being able to carry the message to so many addicts in one evening."

Concept Eleven – Best possible “members”

BY JACKIE S.

ATLANTIC NORTH REGIONAL TRUSTEE

While the trustees hold final responsibility for CA's world service administration, they should always have the assistance of the best possible standing committees, corporate service directors, executives, staffs, and consultants. Therefore the composition of these underlying committees and service boards, the personal qualifications of their members, the manner of their induction into service, the system of their rotation, the way in which they are related to each other, the special rights and duties of our executives, staffs, and consultants, together with a proper basis for the financial compensation of these special workers, will always be matters for serious care and concern.

A few years ago Amy B. visited the UK and spoke to me about the World Service Conference and asking if the UK Area was sending a delegate that year. My response at that time was probably not, as 'World' seemed so far away and that we didn't really need 'World'. Her response was that maybe 'World' needed us. That was a turning point and I came to understand that we all needed to work together for the cogs to turn. This reminds me of the underlying message behind Concept Eleven, which is of co-operation and harmony with all the different service structures within our fellowship. We need each other for the continual growth and harmony of Cocaine Anonymous.

So, as with all the entire service structure, it goes back to the members and the groups to not only support but share world leadership and it is the responsibility of the members to put themselves up for service positions where they can help and bring their talents forward.

How can members and groups do this?

To assist these members in getting to the conference and making up the committees that will bring forward plans for our growth in the coming years. This Concept speaks of getting the best-qualified people for the positions not the most popular or who is left. This requires that available positions should be announced to the fellowship as a whole to maximize the process and help bring forward those who can serve the fellowship, always bearing in mind that ultimately God is in charge.

In the Eleventh concept we are reminded of the need to have diverse skills that work together in the various service structures and to have the best qualified people working together. When I joined the World Service Board of Trustees, it seemed that I had so many questions as to what the role involved and fortunately they had a buddy system that I could go to, to get the answers and get properly inducted.

One of the items the WSBT has been actively compiling is Trustee Guidelines. This will hopefully help future Trustees and also those who may consider having their name on the slate for the TEC and knowing what will be expected of them.

We are so fortunate to have so many talented and committed members in our fellowship and part of our responsibility is in nurturing and helping them into service.

The conference is the heart-beat of Cocaine Anonymous – and therefore it is essential that the delegates get to serve on committees that will get the maximum benefit from each persons contribution.

Equally it is important that the World Service Office Board has the same special skills and that office workers are compensated appropriately. If we want to retain the highest standards we must be prepared to pay our paid workers a fair and equitable salary – we need to be fully self supporting in all our affairs.

Finally, this concept speaks of the spirit of rotation – the more responsible the assignment the longer the term of service must be if we are to have effectiveness.

Bill Wilson writes that for a trustee to be of any use whatever they must serve four years. Just like in the group, district or area level the spirit of rotation needs to be observed for the health of the groups, we have no leaders, it is equally so on the conference level. The health and well being of Cocaine Anonymous will also rest with bringing in new members who can bring their special skills so we can all work together.

PRAYER

am in the process, how much better or worse my life gets, my connection with a Higher Power is ultimately the solution. The spiritual solution to our true dilemma: "lack of power." Prayer and meditation are the keys to strengthening my connection.

Ritualize the process if you need to. Pray in the fashion that works to connect you with your HP. Consider HP in the quiet moments of your day. If not a single quiet moment exists naturally, make one of your own. Is it working? If you connect, it's working. If you can't connect, try something else. When you find something that works, do that every day. Perhaps more than once.

In the middle of a rather intense cycle of depression one spring several years ago, I found myself driving my little VW van nowhere in particular except to get away from my house and kids and husband. It was raining so hard I had the wipers on high and still could barely see the road before me. I drove the freeway one direction, took and exit and then drove randomly across some hills and then back through town. I finally stopped in an empty parking lot in front of a closed bank across the street from the local crack motel. I had cash in my pocket. My thoughts circled between despair and pain. I went from crying to cursing and back again. I lay my head on the steering wheel and said out loud, "God, if this 12 step #@#@ is such a spiritual program, where the #@#@ are you right now?"

In that moment, there was a crash of thunder that sounded like it was right outside my window. It shocked me out of my tears, and I lifted my eyes to see, all around me, brilliant flashes of lightening and to hear the rumbling and crashing of thunder. I had been driving through the storm the entire time, completely oblivious of its awesome power.....until I opened my eyes and ears, stepped outside of myself to see and hear. There it was, right before me. As it had always been.

"Alright, already. I get it." I turned my little van homeward to find my darling husband peacefully sitting on the floor playing a board game with my three beautiful daughters. The depression didn't magically lift that day. But I got a glimpse of the path before me, God's will for me and strength to take myself home to curl up next to my husband and be with my family, sober another day. Followed by the comfort of being in God's will.

Reaching out to my HP takes practice. So every day, I get to practice as I work Step 11. Practice on the good days makes it easier to reach out on the bad days. Reaching out. Connecting the dots. Call it prayer and meditation.....call it what you will. As a result, my life has changed such as I never expected.

H&I Corner

BY HARRISON JENKINS, WSC H&I CHAIR

This has been a productive year for the World Service Conference H&I Committee. We were given the task of revising the WSC H&I Guidelines and information booklet and creating a H&I video.

By now, the WSC delegates should have received their draft of the revised Guidelines and Information booklet. We will gratefully entertain any referrals or suggestions that could enhance this process. Remember, these are suggested H&I Committee guidelines. Your district or area may need to revise these to make them more applicable to your specific needs.

Personally, I would like to thank all of those who contributed to the success of the H&I Video. You all stepped up and answered the plea for financial help.

There has been talk about who will get the video first. This issue will be discussed in committee at the Conference. Last year we answered a referral that asked about the distribution, marketing and budget plans for the video. It was determined that this referral was out of the scope of the H&I Committee. It was given to the World Service Office.

In closing, we addressed a referral that this committee carry the message to their local committees that withholding funds from the areas and districts to which they are responsible is eroding or primary purpose.

We drafted a memo stating the above and gave it to the WSO and to the Trustees.
